

QUESTIONS SENT BY JURY TO COURT

Want More Light on Ballot Incident Reported From Jefferson Ward.

Desiring more light on legal and other points involved, the grand jury which is probing alleged irregularities at the Second Precinct in Jefferson Ward at the recent councilmanic primary, yesterday presented a communication containing many questions to Judge R. G. Southall, sitting in the Hustings Court. In order that they might be fully answered Judge Southall, immediately after the receipt of the communication, adjourned the grand jury until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

At first Judge Southall agreed to make public the questions, but later decided to keep them secret until he has answered them, when he will give out the communication and reply.

It is understood that the jurors want to know whether blank ballots actually reached the hands of voters, or whether the slips in question were "guide tickets." While some persons have said that official blank ballots were in circulation, others have maintained that the only official ballots outside of the precinct polling booth were mutilated and therefore would receive no consideration whatsoever.

The following witnesses, who were present yesterday, will probably be called before the jury when it reconvenes to-morrow:

L. C. Hicks, superintendent of Jefferson Ward; T. J. Winder, judge; R. C. Ginn, judge; Walter Gowdy, citizen; R. P. Brophy, registrar; Judge Walter G. Duke, member City Democratic Committee; R. W. Crump, Charles L. Williams, Edward Williams, Eston Lewis, W. A. Evans and Major Miles M. Martin, chairman of the City Committee.

TRINITY WINS FROM RANDOLPH-MACON, 3-2

Takes Fast Game by Superior Stick Work. Foushee's Great Catch Prevents Possible Win for Ashland.

Not until Captain Thompson, of Trinity, gathered in Anderson's leaping grounder and relayed it to first for the final out, at the Broad Street park yesterday, did the Randolph-Macon supporters acknowledge themselves beaten. It was the prettiest college contest on the local diamond this year, and was played in fast time. At the end of the game, the score stood Trinity, 3; Randolph-Macon, 2.

The greatest individual stunt of the afternoon was the way Foushee, Trinity's leftfielder, gathered in a mighty wallop by Ives which sped hard and high along the third base line, preventing Taten, who was on third base, from scoring. It happened in the eighth inning, when Walker was out on a fly to centre and Taten rounded for third bases on a drive to the centrefield fence. Ives' feat up sent the ball into the extreme leftfield, where it looked good to top the fielder's reach by five feet. Foushee made a flying leap for it and jerked it ashore by the ears. Bane was out second to first, and there was no scoring.

Boshhammer in Great Form.
Boshhammer, Trinity's freshman find, worked in big league style, yielding five scattered hits and striking out eight. He had the luck from Ashland guessing the time and fast play.

Except Taten, who connected once for two bases and another time for three, Gayle found him twice for singles, and Walker once. Marston pitched steadily and with good control, but was mercilessly walloped by the wearers of the blue, who registered eleven safeties. He yielded only one base on ball to his opponent's four. Only one Trinity player fell a victim to his curves.

An error each by White and Anderson, a single by Walker and a double by Taten gave Randolph-Macon one run in the first inning.

Trinity checkmated, in her half, when Foushee drew a free pass, took second on Anderson's sacrifice, and scored on Captain Thompson's single. Nothing more was doing until the fifth, when McLean, for Trinity, went out, pitcher to first base. Boshhammer hit for one base, Foushee ditted, and both advanced when second base let

ERROR BY THACKERA LOSES FOR RICHMOND

Danville Wins by Narrow Margin in Brilliantly Played Pitchers' Contest—Four Fast Double-Plays Made.

Two were out on Schrader's single, a stolen base and Thacker's error the second, followed by Clunk's single. Richmond got one in the fourth, when Griffin singled, Flournoy was hit by the pitcher and Mattie's single brought Griffin home.

Danville scored the winning run in the fourth, when Mayberry walked and Lucie, going to third when Thacker dropped a pop fly, Gaston's hit brought him home. The score:

Richmond:
1. Danville, 2.
2. Roanoke, 3; Norfolk, 2.
3. Newport News, 6; Lynchburg, 1.
4. Portsmouth, 1; Petersburg, 3 (thirteen innings).

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., May 7.—Danville defeated Richmond to-day by the narrow margin in a brilliantly played pitchers' contest, in which honors were even between Ralph Saine and Steve Gaston. An error by Thacker, who had an off-day, was responsible for the decisive score in the fourth inning.

His muff of a pop fly prolonged the inning, and was followed by Pitcher Gaston's two-bagger, which scored Mayberry. Had Thacker caught the ball this idea would have been retired safely.

The game was a quickly and brilliantly played one, four fast double plays preventing further scoring. Both infielders distinguished themselves by their clever work, notably McComas, Zane and Mayberry.

OFFERS POSITION TO MAJOR FINCH

Named by Governor as Surgeon-General of State Militia to Succeed Lynch.

The appointment as surgeon-general of Virginia Volunteers was yesterday tendered Major Adam T. Finch, of Chase City, by Governor Mann.

The resignation of the present surgeon-general was accepted by the Governor with the greatest reluctance, only in fact, after Colonel Lynch urged its acceptance. So far as is known, Major Finch will accept the appointment, and a reply is expected from him within a few days. Major Finch, being a senior officer of the Medical Corps, Virginia Volunteers, was the logical successor to Colonel Lynch, having served faithfully for years in the interest of militia operations.

The Adjutant-General's letter follows: "Major A. T. Finch, Medical Corps, Va. Volunteers, Chase City, Va."

"By direction of the Governor and commander-in-chief, I have the honor to inform you that the resignation of the present surgeon-general of Virginia Volunteers, Lieutenant-Colonel J. F. Lynch, has been received and at the earnest request of Colonel Lynch, will be accepted."

"As senior officer of the Medical Corps, the Governor desires to tender you the appointment as surgeon-general to succeed Colonel Lynch."

"It is desired that you will advise this office at your earliest convenience whether or not you will be able to accept the appointment."

"W. W. SALE, Adjutant-General."

the ball got away from him. Anderson went out short to first, but Boshhammer made port. Spence came to the scratch with a clean single, scoring Foushee. J. Thompson closed the inning with a fly to deep centre.

Yesterday's game ended Trinity's season, and made the third victory out of the six games played on the Northern trip. The team leaves over the railroad this morning for Durham. Two more games with the Virginia Polytechnic Institute were scheduled for this week, but were called off by mutual consent. The score:

ALLENS' DID NOT EXPECT TO STAY LONG IN TOWN

First shot at Judge Maggise, and then he saw Floyd Allen get his pistol and shoot, and the witness, dropping on one knee near the end of the bar, fired between the railings at the prisoner four times. Floyd fell, but arose and shot again, finally jumping over the bar as Sidna Allen passed him, also going out. Gillespie went to the treasurer's office to get more cartridges, but could not get in, and he saw Floyd Allen firing at Dexter Goad. He did not see Webb with a pistol.

George Spence, the next witness, was within six or eight feet of Floyd Allen in the courtroom. He saw Floyd point his pistol in the direction of Foster and Webb, and also saw him shooting down the street. Spence told the defense he has never felt better in his life than when running from the courthouse.

An unshaken story, though lacking in detail, was told by Roscoe Mabry, nineteen years old. He was in the courtroom and witnessed Floyd Allen's rebellion against the orders of the court. But he saw no pistol in the room save in the hands of Wesley Edwards, who, standing on a bench, had his weapon leveled. Victor Allen had been beside Wesley, but got down on the floor. Floyd Allen shot at the stand. He was in the courtroom a few minutes before the shooting and saw Friel Allen at the rear, in the position from which he is said to have fired.

R. M. Blankenship, assistant postmaster at Hillsville, was at his home several hundred yards away when he heard the firing in the courthouse, and, unlike most other witnesses, ran toward the scene. He came within sight in time to observe Sidna Allen and Floyd Allen shoot towards the steps. Sidna Edwards, with a pistol in his hand, walked across the green and up to Floyd Allen. Wesley Edwards had an automatic pistol in both hands, flourishing it towards the steps. Blankenship had helped carry the body of Foster home, and the Commonwealth sought to introduce the bloody clothing of the slain man. R. H. Willis, for the defense, objected. He said it was well settled that such exhibits were improper, as being calculated to inflame the jury, unless it were necessary to prove the manner of death.

Clothing Ruled Out.
The prosecution pressed the point but little, and when
